

Our History

The Protective Glazing Council (PGC) International was formed in 1997 to address the growing need for protective glazing systems by the General Services Administration and other government agencies, as well as in general construction in the United States. Members come from various segments of the industry - glass fabricators, suppliers of materials and accessories, window film manufacturers, curtain wall and window manufacturers, sealant suppliers, test laboratories and fenestration industry.

Who We Are

PGC International represents manufacturers of protective glazing products and systems, suppliers to these manufacturers, consultants and testing organizations. The association was organized to provide support to government and industry in the development of standards and specifications, as well as use of protective glazing products, for blast resistance, bullet resistance, and main force attack.

What We Believe

The members of the association recognize the importance of standards and support the development and use of standards in the area of security. PGC International and its members work with government agencies and committees involved in security. Government representatives, architects and engineering professionals attend and participate in PGC International activities.
